ATLANTA BUSINESS CHRONICLE NAMES ADVOCATE A 2017 PACESETTER,
ONE OF THE FASTEST-GROWING PRIVATE COMPANIES

NORCROSS, GA, May 4, 2017—Over 300 top executives from metro Atlanta gathered last week to celebrate Atlanta Business Chronicle’s annual ranking of Atlanta’s Fastest-Growing Private Companies (Pacesetters). Advocate, a technology management firm that focuses on IT infrastructure and governance to achieve client value through improved efficiency, transparency, performance and scalability, was named as a 2017 Pacesetter.

Co-founder and President Tim Wise said, “Advocate is thrilled to be named a 2017 Pacesetter company for demonstrating significant growth by the Atlanta Business Chronicle. We owe our growth to the combination of our forward-thinking clients and our dedicated employees (‘Insiders’) who work smarter together to achieve consistent cost and performance gains.”

The Pacesetter Awards ranks qualifying companies by a growth index formula. This year’s top 100 was chosen among a record number of nominations in a highly competitive market. To qualify, the companies must be privately held; based in the 20-county metro Atlanta area and not a subsidiary of another company; established first quarter 2014 or earlier (to judge a two-year growth); has experienced a two-year growth in sales of more than 50%; and had its 2016 revenues between $1 million and $300 million.
